

OFF AND RUN -- Well, maybe running is not the right word to use in connection with the start of a turtle derby but it seems appropriate when talking about races regardless of the contenders. You can see that the starting pen is circular and the turtles are released on a circular course. The object is not to go around it but to get from the center to the perimeter. Some of the turtles proved to be quite contrary. They scurried for the outer edge but when just about to reach it, stopped and started back for the center again. This particular derby was sponsored by the Lions club of Frankfort to raise money for youngsters' baseball teams. It was believed to have been quite profitable for the cause.

Inspector Praises Lincoln-Way

Russell D. Rendleman, staff member of the state department of public education, was warm in his praise of Lincoln-Way high school following annual inspection of the institution. Mr. Rendleman is general inspector of the northern division.

A copy of his report, which was sent to the director of supervision, in Stead, at Springfield, was received by A. Hunter Chapman, superintendent of Lincoln-Way from Mr. Stead. It follows:

"It was a very pleasant experience for me to have the opportunity to visit the Lincoln-Way Community High School on May 11.

"The school is housed in a very fine brick building erected in 1953. There are twenty-three general classrooms, offices, a gymnasium, and a beautiful auditorium in the building. The school is located on a seventy acre tract. It has been well maintained, is in excellent condition, and the custodial service is good.

"A five hundred thousand dollar addition to the building is under construction and will be ready for use this coming school year. This is an area growing fast with school enrollment increasing at the rate of about one hundred pupils each year.

"The instructional materials in the school are unusually good with an adequate supply available in each department.

"The library facilities in the school are excellent. Four thousand dollars were spent to improve it this year.

"Faculty members are well qualified and properly certified. The instruction is good and it is meeting the needs of the pupils as well as the standards prescribed by the office of the superintendent of public instruction.

"There is a very fine spirit existing between the administration, the faculty, and students. I wish to compliment the administrator for his interest in providing excellent educational, as well as cultural opportunities, for each pupil enrolled in the school.

"There were many fine citizenship traits observed by me as I visited the school.

Mokena Man's Brother Dies

Stephen J. Angland, 47, a practicing attorney at Washington, D. C. and a brother of Maurice P. Angland, of Mokena, died suddenly at his home Monday, May 30, apparently of a heart seizure.

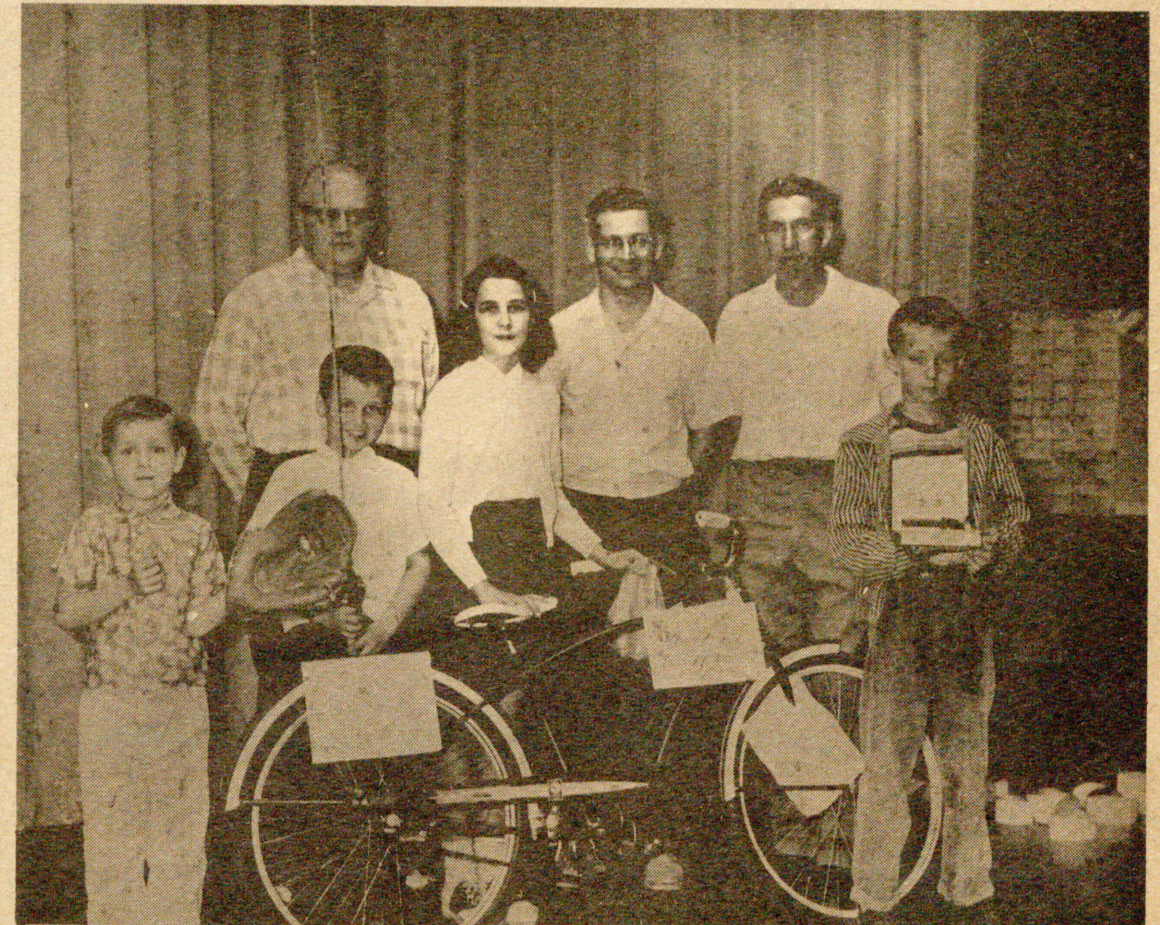

He had called the Maurice Anglands Sunday night to felicitate them on their anniversary and appeared then to have been in good health. The next morning he was dead.

A native of Montana, Stephen Angland had spent much of his working career in Washington. He was a lieutenant in World War II and served most of his time in the judge advocate's department. He also served as assistant to Francis Whitehair, undersecretary of the navy. He later became attached to the tax division of the department of justice.

When the congressional committee which conducted an inquiry into TV and radio licensing and various ramifications of those industries, Stephen Angland was assistant chief counsel. He was at a variance with the committee, however, as to how the investigation should proceed and when, in his opinion it became diverted to a hue and cry after announcers on the payola issue instead of sticking to trails that would have led to bigger quarry, he resigned.

He was never married and is survived by four brothers. Besides Maurice who is an investment broker and author of a financial column carried in the Semmler Press, there are Dr. Thomas A. Angland, of Yakima, Wash.; Emmett C., an attorney of Great Falls, Mont. and president of the state bar association there, and William B., a wholesale produce dealer at Portland, Ore. He was preceded in death by his parents, Patrick and Elizabeth Angland and a sister, Dr. Mary H. Angland, a physician and surgeon.

NIGas Co. To Sell Bonds In July

Northern Illinois Gas Company plans to sell $30 million of 25-year first mortgage bonds in July. This is $5 million more than the amount previously announced and was disclosed today in a registration statement filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The higher requirement, according to L. L. Starrett, NIGas treasurer, resulted from a $20 million boost in the utility's five-year (1960-64) construction program which is now estimated at $200 million. The boost was prompted by increases in the company's business principally for space heating and higher outlays for development of underground gas storage facilities.

A petition to the Illinois Commerce Commission relating to this issue is scheduled to be filed on June 14.

Subject to market conditions and commission clearances, NIGas plans to offer the bonds for competitive bidding on July 6. The interest rate is to be specified in the bids which are scheduled to be opened on July 13. None of the bonds may be redeemed prior to July 1, 1965 through refunding by any debt issue having a lower interest cost to the company. This provision does not apply to redemptions for sinking fund purposes. Starrett said the $30 million bond issue is part of the estimated $149 million new capital requirements for the company's projected five-year construction program. NIGas raised about $14.6 million in January through the sale of preferred stock as a first step in this financing program. No further public financing is planned for 1960.

The utility's construction program, Starrett said, now includes about $38 million to provide for the development of underground gas storage facilities in or near the company's 20-county service area in northern Illinois. About $10 million of this amount is for a pipeline, now under construction, to connect the company's Troy Grove underground storage reservoir with the company's main distribution system near LaGrange.

The utility's month-end statement also released today disclosed that NIGas' earnings for the 12 months ended April 30, 1960 were $2.08 a share, up 41 cents from a year ago.

Higher And Higher

While most persons are opposed to high taxes it may also be said that most persons fail to react unless directly affected. Many persons are in favor of "making the corporations pay," without realizing they are wishing more taxes on themselves.

Most taxes on business are simply added to the cost of operation and passed along to the consumer in the form of higher prices.

Hence we come to the purse rifling set up covered by the term, "hidden taxes."

The Taxpayers Federation of Illinois, quoting from statistics furnished by Tax Foundation, Inc., another guardian of the public's pocketbook against raids by the bureaucrats, gives these figures for you to mull over:

"110 taxes on an egg.

"116 taxes on a man's suit.

"150 taxes on a woman's hat.

"151 taxes on a loaf of bread.

"60 taxes on a house."

These are only a few items, and the figures given are only a minimum. And you might say the list is endless. Practically everything you wear, eat, drink, use for transportation and recreation, or the treatment of illness carries a horde of hidden taxes.

The Foundation gives a rough estimate to the effect that the direct and hidden taxes paid by a family with a $5,000 income come to $1,600 a year which is 31.25%. That is not only a rough estimate it is plain rough--period.

Most of us would like to to and have many things if we had the money. Lacking it we do without. It is time that endeavor to convince our various governing bodies to also do without the things they are unable to afford. To bring that about we have a duty to perform--we must forego some of the services and pet schemes urged by minority organizations.

It sounds fine to hear that the government is going to pick up the tab for us on this or on that but remember this--the only money a government has comes from its people.

Anyone who thinks that because he doesn't own real estate or his income is low that he doesn't pay taxes is just living in a fool's paradise.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DEFEND THE UN

Dear Sir:

I certainly do not agree with the statements you made regarding the United Nations, in your editorial, Thursday, May 19th.

I am writing as a layman and also as vice president of the Frankfort Woman's Society of Christian Service. The vice-president has charge of the planned programs for the Society. One of the book studies that we just completed was "United Nations". We strongly feel to have place in the world is to have the different countries come together and discuss the world affairs, as the United Nations does. We must work together and understand the other countries problems to obtain and keep peace.

Sincerely,
Lois Bettenhausen

Dear Sir:

It was truly most disturbing to pick up our local paper and read your editorial denouncing the United Nations. My first reaction was that perhaps it would have been well for your editorial to have gone the same way as the U. N. releases, received by you, before it reached print.

It is your privilege to exercise the right of freedom of speech and press but in so doing it is right to ask that same privilege denied the 82 nations, who through the United Nations, are able to come together to discuss mutual problems?

Have you not heard of the millions of underprivileged men, women and children who have greatly benefited through UNICEF, who, UNESCO and other agencies of the U.N.?

I believe the U.N. has been created by persons sincerely seeking to find a way of life that is free from oppression, fear, hunger and disease.

I believe it is our Christian duty to co-operate with and support the United Nations and its agencies.

Sincerely,
A disturbed citizen
Frankfort, Illinois

Dear Sir:

I refer to the Editorial in the May 19 issue of your paper. What a pity that in the United States of America -- where there is freedom of the press -- the people are given such irresponsible reading material as this editorial. May I suggest that you retrieve those United Nations news releases from the waste basket -- read them -- add to this other material -- and begin a program for "informing you!"

"Our flat, one-dimensional handling of news have given the lie the same prominence and impact that truth is given." (From a speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors). This feature--less objectivity is nothing less than the editor's abdication of responsibility.

Your truly,
Mrs. Jack Erving
123 Oak Street
Frankfort, Ill.

Dear Sir:

In protesting both the attitude and fact of the May 19 editorial against the United Nations in the Frankfort Leader, the temptation is great to put emotion on paper instead of thinking as did your editorial writer. Emotion, most of all in print, has no license for public display.

The United Nations is not above criticism -- neither is democracy, motherhood or Christianity -- but it was established for good purposes and deserves constructive criticism.

It borders on paganism, however, when an institution dedicated to world peace is adjudged worthless on monetary values. It is not the theme of this editorial that those who would put world peace as a principal achievement and hope for this and subsequent life times, should oppose the United Nations because it costs each taxpayer several dollars each year. You would have us make money our God.

Please suggest to your editorial writer that if he would pay only equal attention to the reports from the United Nations as he does the reports of his favorite comic strip characters, he might find the United Nations doing more than separating him from a few tax pennies.

He might discover that fewer countries have been involved in war and fewer lives lost in armed conflict during the ten years of the United Nations' existence than any other ten year period for the past 100 years.

The United Nations has been successful in featuring world peace and it will continue to be for as long as it provides the facility to debate differences between independent nations.

As an instrument of communication your paper should be able to concede the necessity of keeping the channels open even though they may be often limited. That is worth something -- perhaps a little money.

Do you know of a single incidence where divergent attitudes of significant proportions has been resolved without a discussion of those attitudes?

The United Nations is the only place on the face of the earth today where nations can come together to at least try to iron out their differences. The cost of supporting the United Nations is quite nominal considerably less than the cost of war which is paid for in blood, yours and mine!

If you have hope for peace, you should be supporting the United Nations and not be trying to kill it. We must continue to try for peace and until something else comes along the United Nations is the best tool we have with which to build it.

Sincerely yours,
Jack Erving
Frankfort, Ill.

(Ed. Note: We feel rewarded, not only because of the proof that some persons do read editorials but that they have taken the time to express their opinions. Apparently these writers are thoroughly sold on the United Nations, just as we are not. We concede that in theory such an organization could be great use to the world but in practice its chief function appears to be to serve as a sounding board for Russian propaganda.)

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Some people refer to our times as the Jet Age; some describe the period as the Atomic Age, while still others think of it as the Space Age.

But Jeff Throttlebottom whose forays into physics, chemistry and science in general has been limited pretty much to column and pot stills for the distillation of grains, fruits and vegetables, takes a more down to earth view.

-0-

This, contends Jeff, is the Instant Age.

-0-

And he points to the shelves in the food stores to back up his assertion.

"There you are," Jeff went on, "instant coffee. Some of it is worse but none of it really good. Yet there is a tremendous demand for it and I wonder sometime if brewing coffee will become a lost art.

"There is instant tea also, although there doesn't seem to be so much of that in use. On the other hand we don't consume as much tea as many other nations.

"But we certainly are taking shortcuts to arrive at many of our beverages and foods. Add water or milk, stir and serve. Say now, maybe this instant milk would taste better if made with real milk instead of water. Mixing real eggs with instant eggs might improve that breed also.

"There doesn't seem to be any end of it," Jeff continued. "There is instant soup and we have instant puddings, instant cakes, instant rolls, instant bread, and I understand they are working now on a process to change instant chowder into instant fish and instant meat extracts into instant beef, pork, mutton -- save the mark -- or veal.

"By golly, when you stop to think about it it is pretty simple to eat these days, what with instant potatoes, instant meals that just require a little heating, instant fruit juice or instant fruit.

"I hope, however, that the liquor makers don't run the clock back. You know we had instant booze during prohibition and personally I would just as soon have a straight shot of muriatic acid as some of that Old Panther we used to get or perhaps I should say it used to get us."

Jeff went on to say that he had intended to look at cars with a view to purchase but has decided to wait until the instant kind comes out. He also is looking forward to stirring up an instant house out of a mixture of sawdust and water with maybe a little glue added for body.

-0-

There are many instant remedies on the market today but as yet there is no instant cure for the common cold.

-0-

We wish there was because this department is in need of one -- the cure that is, not the cold.

Flossmoor Ends Sandburg Hold On Golf Tourney

Homewood-Flossmoor ended the Carl Sandburg monopoly on the SWS Golf Tournament here last week with a two stroke victory, 346-348. In past years the Eagles have had little trouble in copping the championship.

Newcomer, Vikings, were just a bit too much as they coped two of the top five positions in individual scores.

No golfer finished under the 80 mark.

Lenti Seeks Third Title

Former champion Tony Lenti will be aiming for a second big step toward another title in the midget auto races Saturday night at Joliet Memorial stadium.

Lenti, track champion in 1954 and 1955 and a contender every year since, will be gunning for a second feature race victory. The Chicago veteran got off to a fast start last weekend with a 50 lap triumph, and figures a repeat performance this Saturday which will give him a substantial edge on the rest of the field.

He set a new track record in his victory, with a clocking of 16 minutes 29.42 seconds.

But Lenti figures to have trouble from at least three veteran speedsters, fellow Chicagoan John Meyers, Streator ace Bob Tattersall, and Bob Tomlinson of Oak Lawn. All were close behind Lenti last weekend.

Bill Beam of Rockdale, who won the season's opening day feature, also will be out for a second triumph. Among the other drivers in the lineup Saturday will be Byron Fisher of Lemont, Billy Wood of Kenosha, Wis., Bob Harkey of Gary, Ind., Willie Wilson of Elmhurst, Bernie Wilhelm of Joliet and Jigger Sirois, Shelby, Ind.

Included on the program will be four heat races, a handicap, 15 lap semifeature and 25 lap feature. Time trials start at 7:30 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 p.m.

Open Boys Ball Season

The baseball season of Orland Park's Little League and Pony League will open with a parade, Sunday, June 5, at 1 p.m. The highlight of the day will be the crowning of a baseball queen and her two attendants.

Those participating in the parade are asked to be at the firehouse on Beacon street at 12:30 p.m. The line of march will be from Beacon street to 143rd street to West avenue and then to the baseball park at 151st and West avenue.

Following the parade the ceremony of the crowning of the queen and attendants will take place. The queen has been chosen by popular vote of the Pony league and attendants by vote of the major and minor teams.

Five games have been scheduled for the afternoon starting at 2 p.m.; one minor, two major and two pony league games.

The leagues are sponsored by the Orland Park Youth Association. The Woman's Auxiliary will have a refreshment stand at the park and will serve hot dogs, coffee, soda and candy. The stand will open at 1:30 p.m.

The baseball season for Mokena youths will start in earnest when the first game gets under way, Monday, June 6 at 6:30 p.m. in Community park.

Both diamonds will be used by the four teams scheduled to play. Eight games have been scheduled for June and seven for July, so come out and give the boys your backing by your attendance and cheers.

Cardinals and Orioles will start the first game followed by the Giants and Tigers.

Alvin Sorensen is the new president of the baseball association.

Washington Letter

By N. M. MASON
(15th District)

There are 16 million people over 65; ten million of these have taxable incomes under $2500; three million have incomes large enough to pay for their own health needs; two and one-half million who now are on public assistance rolls. Proper care for our aged people is a problem that faces the nation because the average length of life (longevity) has increased from 48 years to 70 years during the past 50 years. It is a problem that must be faced and solved properly -- not hurriedly and carelessly. Public hearings to get all sides of the question are needed and should be held.

H. R. 11856 has been introduced by Congressman Byrnes (R-Wis.), to provide OASI benefits for all persons over 72 who are not now eligible for such benefits because they had retired before becoming eligible. These old people would receive a minimum OASI benefit of $33 per month as a matter of right and justice. The cost of blanketing in this group for OASI benefits would be paid for from the general fund of the Treasury. It is estimated that the cost of this program will be about $100 million the first year, gradually diminishing over the next ten or fifteen years to practically zero. However, a large part of the expected cost of this OASI program for the aged, if not all of it, will be offset by savings to the Federal government in relief benefits under public assistance costs.

Some two million old people would be blanketed in under this program, over one million of them being widows. At this time when the Ways and Means Committee is considering benefit increases under the OASI program, it is only proper and right that the old people who were retired before OASI coverage was available for them should be covered.

NO CLASSROOM SHORTAGE
There is no classroom shortage in American schools. The following facts brought out in a recent report from the House Committee on Education and Labor prove that Federal aid to relieve the fictitious classroom shortage is uncalled for:

1. States and local communities have built 680,000 classrooms since World War II -- without Federal aid. Of the 1,330,000 classrooms in us this coming fall, more than half will be of post-war construction.

2. The peak in national construction of classrooms has been passed, and within five years the number of classrooms needed to keep fully abreast of additional requirements will be only half as much as actually has been built within the past few years.

3. Most States have no classroom construction problem. The 237 borrowed-up school districts amount to only six-tenths of one per cent of the nation's 40,000 school districts. In other words, only 237 districts out of 40,000 have borrowed up to their legal limit.

Utility Firm Seeks Seasonal Balance Of Output

(CNS) Use of air-conditioning equipment has so added to the peak of summer electricity use that the Commonwealth Edison company is seeking winter seasonal balance by space heating, President J. Harris Ward told the stockholders' annual meeting last week.

"Air conditioning is rapidly becoming an accepted way of life in the Chicago area," he said. "In recent years our commercial and industrial installations have grown impressively despite strong competition from steam and gas equipment. For installations of 100 horsepower or more, we believe we are outselling our competition more than six times over."

"In contrast to central air conditioning, individual room coolers, due to their relatively low cost and ease of installation, are impulse purchases. When it gets hot, people buy. The torrid summers of 1955 and 1959 resulted in the installation of large numbers of these units."

With air conditioning accounting for over 500,000 kilowatt of the summer peak load, "for the sake of seasonal balance we must begin to develop off-setting winter load", he declared.

"This we have begun to do. Electric space heating is the ideal complement to air conditioning. At the beginning of 1958, there were fewer than 140 electrically-heated homes and apartments in our service area. Today there are more than 4,000 either completed or under construction."

"While 4,000 are not many in an area where 40,000 homes are built each year, it is a big increase over 140. Our average residential customer uses about 3,000 kilowatt hours annually, but a residential heating customer uses six times that amount. No wonder we are interested in the space heating market."

"Virtually every electrically heated single family residence becomes a total electric home. Increasing numbers of builders and manufacturers are finding it to their mutual benefit to sell the all-electric package. We believe that space heating is the last step toward the achievement of this goal."

Larger sales have made possible larger and more economical generators, he said. The first 300,000-kilowatt unit, installed in 1959 at Waukegan, is 20 per cent more efficient than the 100,000 unit at Calumet Station, installed in 1947 and this means it uses $1 million less coal a year, he said. It also needs only 25 men to operate it while Calumet needs 45.

"Increased size and technological progress offset the forces of inflation," he declared. "Automation is also playing its part in holding down costs. For example, in the city of Chicago 79 unattended substations are operated from four supervisory control centers, (where) at one time operators were in around-the-clock attendance to throw switches - which wasn't very often."

During 1959, a saving of $400,000 was affected by connections with other companies which permitted the most economic power to be exchanged by dispatchers. Automatic computer-controllers adjust the turbine throttles within the company's twelve plants with 58 generating units, he pointed out.

The 2,200 vehicles used to keep electric servicemen mobile are being replaced for the last ten months only by new compact cars instead of the former "low-priced three", at an annual saving estimated eventually at $100,000 a year.

"In fact, in our fleet the low-priced three are now classed as big cars," he said.

Hold Smell Test Today In Tour Of Sludge Lagoons

(CNS) -- The regular meeting today (June 2) of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago will be held at the sewage treatment plant in Stickney. A small test is planned.

District trustees will conduct a tour of the nearby sludge lagoons "and I bet there won't be any odors out there," declared Col. Frank W. Chesrow, president of the district. The meeting, the first to be held outside of the district's headquarters in Chicago, will be open to the public, as usual.

The district is investigating complaints of southwest area residents that the sludge lagoons produce foul odors wafting over the countryside.

Walter S. Baltis, a district trustee, contends that industry and commerce in the area are to blame for the greatest proportion of the odors.

What with unemployment compensation, social security, welfare payments, etc., a man can make a better living doing nothing nowadays than he did with a steady job a few years ago.

Student Banquet Attended By 103 Wednesday Evening

MRS. MARGARET SEMMLER
Tel. 5561

A Hawaiian theme was used as the decoration in the school gym last Wednesday evening, May 25 when the seventh and eighth grade banquet was held and enjoyed by 103 students and teachers.

Following a buffet banquet a program was arranged by the eighth grade class beginning with a word of welcome by Peter Demus. The response was given by Cindy Robinson and Tim Hull. The class history was read by Carol Chisholm and Greg Fant.

Larry Wallschlaeger, Betty Helgeson, David Howell, William Ihe and Larry Spies presented the class will to various students of the seventh grade. The class prophecy was given by Nancy Porick, Kurt Gerdel and Diane Muehler.

Class songs were sung by the seventh and eighth grades preceding the balance of the evening of dancing.

Forest Lake Level Down But Fishing Continues

(CNS) -- Fishing is allowed while the forest preserve district partially drains Sauganashkee slough in southwest suburban Palos township as a first step in repairing fissures or leaks caused by dynamiting at the adjoining Calumet Sag channel.

The announcement that fishing may continue was made Friday by Daniel Ryan, district president, whose office was jammed with telephone calls from fishermen bewildered at the sight of the dropping lake level.

The 325-acre body of water, located south of 107th street and east of Willow Springs road, is one of the most popular recreational spots in the forest preserve system.

Fishing there goes on around the clock and "100,000 fishermen, easy" fish this slough every year, says Roland Eisenbeis, conservation superintendent.

The control valve at the dam on Willow Springs road was opened Thursday to drop the water table for repair work.

Marley Woman's Club Will Hold Annual Picnic June 9

BY VIRGINIA SASS
HU 5-3133

The Marley Woman's club will hold its annual picnic on Thursday, June 9 in Haley Park in Marley. A planned pot luck dinner will be served at noon. Chairmen of the affair are Mrs. Otto Moravec and Mrs. Henry Volz. Mrs. John Pecinlak will be in charge of the recreation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Haley of Tampa, Florida, have been guests the past week in the home of Mrs. Arthur Lauffer. On Tuesday they were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lauffer.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ray Hamer and children Gary and Sharon, spent the weekend with friends at Blandinsville, Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Durward Killinger and family and Mrs. Adella Sproat were visitors in Oak Park on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Sass and daughter Verda and Mrs. Glen Peterson spent last Sunday afternoon with friends in Plattville, Ill.

Local graduates were honored at a dinner following morning worship in the Marley church on Sunday, May 22. At noon guests were seated at long tables decorated with graduation motifs. An arrangement of glads and mums centered the honored guests' table. Dinner was served by a committee headed

The level of the lake, which has depths up to nine feet, will be lowered three feet, leaving the banks dry.

Clay and clean fill material then will be dumped on the banks to seal shut leaks opened there by the dynamiting in the widening of the Cal-Sag, said Charles G. Sauer, general superintendent of the forest preserve district.

Banks of the slough on the channel side were formed by spoil and limestone dug out of the channel, Eisenbeis said.

The repair project is expected to be completed by the middle of summer, with rain water and runoff refilling the lake's normal level, Eisenbeis said.

The opened control valve at the dam is intended to prevent the loss of fish.

Lowering the lake's level should make fishing "even better" at the slough, Eisenbeis said. It is drawing the small fish out of hiding in weed beds along shore and they're "making good food" for the larger fish, he said.

MSD Trustees Consider Proposal To Sell Strip

(CNS) -- A forest preserve district proposal to buy a five mile long narrow strip of land along the Calumet Sag channel in the Palos Hills region will be considered at the meeting of the Metropolitan Sanitary District today.

"I'm on record as being for recreational areas," said Col. Frank W. Chesrow, president of the sanitary district. But he declined to hazard a guess whether his board would let go of the highly prized lands. The forest preserve board has been trying 10 years now to add the property to its Palos Preserve holdings.

"One thing," Chesrow said, "this board must always consider is that land given to other public agencies is taken off of the tax rolls. We must weigh what is most beneficial to our taxpayers: to devote the land to recreational purposes, which brings in no taxes, or to lease for private development, which brings in taxes."

He did agree with a reporter's observation that available potential recreational lands are disappearing Cook county.

"That's true," Chesrow said, "We're fast becoming a county of concrete and asphalt areas."

San. Dist. Land Stays In City

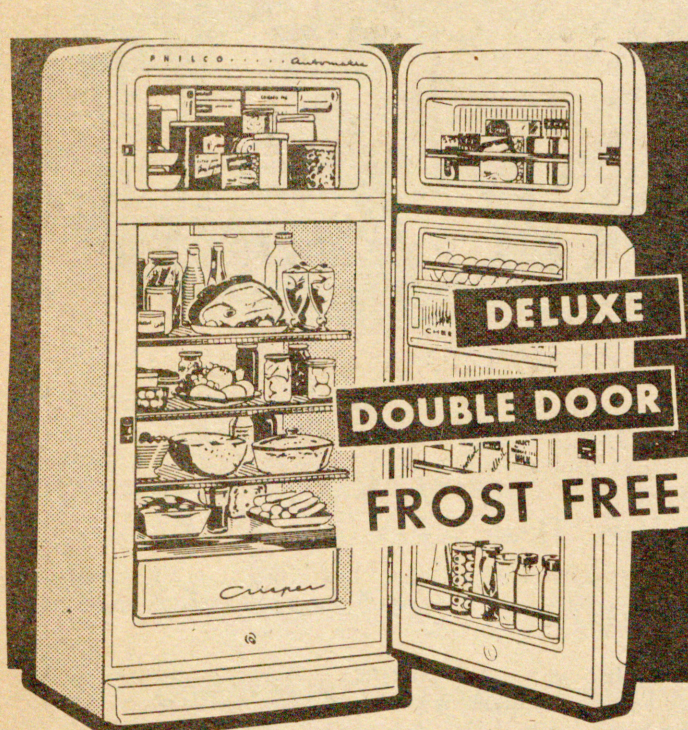

(CNS) -- Metropolitan Sanitary District property on the north bank of the Calumet-Sag channel will remain within Palos Heights pending outcome of the city's appeal to the higher courts.

Acting Judge John M. Karns allowed the city's motion for an order to have the appeal act as a supersedeas, suspending the operation of all previous orders pending outcome of the appeal.

MODERN AND CONVENIENT this kitchen in the Methodist church at Frankfort. Envy is listed as a sin among Christians and how the women of a church with an ancient, inconvenient kitchen can look upon this layout without just a teensy bit of envy is difficult to figure out. A pretty nice kitchen -- even the men recognize that. Good meals come out of it too. (Marvin Smith photo)
